

Complex Tables Document

This document contains multiple tables for testing table extraction.

Table 1: Financial Summary

Quarter	Revenue	Expenses	Profit
Q1 2024	$125,000	$80,000	$45,000
Q2 2024	$150,000	$90,000	$60,000
Q3 2024	$175,000	$95,000	$80,000
Q4 2024	$200,000	$100,000	$100,000
Total	$650,000	$365,000	$285,000

This is text paragraph 1 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 2 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 3 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 4 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 5 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 6 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 7 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 8 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 9 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

This is text paragraph 10 between the tables. It contains important information that should be extracted as a separate zone.

Table 2: Product Inventory

Product	Category	Price	Stock
Widget A	Hardware	$25.99	150
Widget B	Hardware	$35.99	200
Software X	Software	$99.99	Unlimited
Service Y	Service	$49.99/mo	N/A

Additional content after the tables.
This tests the ability to handle mixed content types.

Table 3: Employee Data

Name	Department	Role	Start Date
John Doe	Engineering	Senior Developer	2020-01-15
Jane Smith	Marketing	Marketing Manager	2019-06-20
Bob Johnson	Sales	Sales Representative	2021-03-10